Tells of Arrival of Vast Allied Reinforcements and Terrific Air and Naval Attacks Against the Enemy

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 15.—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today announced the loss of additional ground by American troops fighting a bloody battle at Salerno but told of the arrival of vast Allied reinforcements and terrific air and naval attacks against the enemy.

(Editor's note: An NBC version of Gen. Eisenhower's communique said that American forces counter-attacked after the ground was yielded and offset their losses by moving into new positions. The German radio abandoned all claims of an Allied defeat at Salerno.)

(An Exchange Telegraph dispatch received in London from Allied headquarters described the situation at Salerno as "slightly better than yesterday.")

District Governor Pays Visit To Rotary Club

ANDALUSIA, Sept. 15.—Rotary District Governor Leonard Peret paid a visit to Bensalem Rotary Club last evening in King Hall, he speaking to the club members on the assets and commitments of Rotary.

Listed as assets by the district governor were: the Rotary magazine; the 5,190 Rotary clubs and thousands of members, and the four services of Rotary. As commitments or possible services there were mentioned: worthy organizations, international affairs, post-war planning, employees, boys in the service, and war work.

Mr. Peret also presided at the club assembly, at which time committees reported on activities and were commended by Mr. Peret. His numerous suggestions were accepted with enthusiasm by the members. In the course of his discourse several interesting facts about Rotary were brought to light, one of them being that 240 clubs in the world are unable to function due to the war.

In the absence of President Elmer B. Vansant, Jacob Scheufele, the vice president, was in charge of the session.

Harvey Walton, Andalusia, a new member of the club, was in attendance; and guests were Charles Boehm, Morrisville; and Melvin Mack, a member of Cornwells school teaching staff.

SCOUT COUNCIL PLANS FOR FINANCIAL DRIVE

Meeting Held Monday Evening In the Doylestown Inn

HEAR SOME REPORTS

DOYLESTOWN, Sept. 15.—With stirring addresses by prominent men of Bucks County, the Bucks County Council, Boy Scouts of America met on Monday evening at the Doylestown Inn and launched plans for the 1943-1944 financial campaign. Based on the theme "Back the Attack with Bonds" and contribute to Scouting in Bucks County to aid in training youth to guard the peace, Rev. A. B. Davidson, Hon. Hiram H. Keller and Hon. Calvin S. Boyer of Doylestown, and Walter W. Pitonka of Bristol, inspired the group of men, representing all parts of Bucks County, as to the importance of the job to be done in Scouting throughout the coming years. It was brought out that Scouting teaches boys to understand and appreciate "The American Way," provides them an opportunity to preserve their individual plans without infringement on the rights of others, and it stimulates a desire on their part to protect the American form of democracy. Statements from President Roosevelt, Admiral E. J. King and General Douglas MacArthur in reference to the importance of Scouting in our National life received high commendation. Looking forward to the beginning of the campaign on September 25th, men from all over Bucks County will begin the job of giving more boys an opportunity to be scouts and boys who are now scouts an opportunity for better scouting.

Reports from committee chairmen of the council were presented. Dr. A. J. Strathle of Newtown, chairman of the camping committee, reported on the success of the summer camp program. He elaborated Continued On Page Four

School Boys Help Distribute Directories

School boys working with express wagons and carts are now playing an important part in the distribution of the new telephone directories, which started today. Charles F. Beatty, manager of the Bell Telephone Company, said today.

Use of the boys, who will make deliveries in their own neighborhoods, will make savings possible in the use of manpower, Mr. Beatty said. However, he pointed out, local directory distribution will take between two and three weeks.

The boys, most of them in high school, will work in the afternoons and Saturdays, collecting the old books for salvage at the same time they deliver the new books. Trucks will deliver the directories to the boys and later collect the old books.

A number of women have also been hired to deliver directories. Men will continue to deliver in the business sections where large quantities of directories must be carried by hand.

Both the new Lower Bucks County directory and the Philadelphia directory will be delivered at the same time.

There are 504 pages in the new Lower Bucks County Directory, a gain of 24. Approximately 6300 copies will be distributed in the local area.

The Philadelphia directory contains approximately 330,000 alphabetical listings, while the other directory contains 138,000 listings of telephone subscribers in the suburban Philadelphia territory.

ANNOUNCE BIRTH OF SON

Mrs. Leonard Pallis, Jefferson avenue, gave birth to a son on Labor Day in the Wagner hospital. Mr. Leonard Pallis left for duty with the U. S. Navy on September 8th. The new arrival is the grandson of Police Officer and Mrs. Eugene Dugan, Jefferson avenue.

TRAINING WITH NAVY

CROYDON, Sept. 15.—"Jack" Ferrell, 17, son of Mrs. William Deuschle, Excelsior avenue, who recently enlisted in the U. S. Navy, is now training at Sampson, N. Y.

To the People of this Community:

"EYES TO KEEP WITH"

To give the devil his due, Mussolini, the once boastful, now beaten jackal, gave utterance to a vivid phrase the other day as our soldiers advanced toward the boot of Italy:

"If we lose, we will be left only with our eyes to weep with." Mussolini should know. That's all he and his Axis partners in crime have left for the conquered peoples of Europe.

That would be your fate, too, if you had not built up the power for today's victorious invasion. Yesterday's War Bonds are doing a job today in Europe. Today's War Bonds will help pay for the march into Rome, Berlin and Tokyo.

Invasion requires double and triple the supplies of preparation for attack. The Third War Loan is a home front campaign in which everyone must march with his or her dollars. That extra $100 War Bond which you should buy today as your minimum participation in the attack is your guarantee that Mussolini, not you, has been left only with eyes to weep with.

Wounded Soldier Buys Bond To Aid "Buddies"

CROYDON, Sept. 15.—PFC Harry Haworth, Jr., has been honorably discharged from active service. He has been a patient for several months in the Walter Reed Memorial Hospital, Washington, D. C., convalescing from wounds received while serving with the armed forces in Africa.

Harry, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haworth, Sr., celebrated his home-coming by buying a $500 war bond at the Croydon post office to help his buddies "over there."

NAVY MAN PUTS 90% IN U. S. WAR BONDS

"After Seeing Results of War," Bensalem Drive is Advancing

PLAN FINE EVENTS

Mrs. Elwood Silcox, Hulmeville Road, Bensalem Township, told the Bensalem 3rd war loan committee Saturday, that her son Roy, of the U. S. Navy, had cabled from Australia $1,000 saved from his pay to buy war bonds for this drive. With it was the message: "After seeing and experiencing the results of war I am taking 10% of my pay for expenses and converting the other 90% into war bonds."

Many Andalusians took advantage of the recording machine stationed there last week, buying their bonds and making Christmas messages to send their loved ones. Those members of the Church of the Redeemer choir who bought bonds made group recordings of songs and hymns. Purchasers of bonds making records are asked to credit the sale to their local canvasser. The discs take one minute and four seconds for recordings, and pencil and paper is on hand so that people may write down their thoughts, and read them from their script that every second may be utilized while the record is being made. Each record will hold two messages.

Today and tomorrow the machine is located at Dr. A. L. MacKenzie's residence, Eddington; Friday and Saturday, Citizens Defense Association, Newportville; Sunday, St. Charles Hall, Cornwells Heights; and Monday and Tuesday of next week at Joseph A. Stevens' residence, Trevoze.

Other attractions the third war loan committee has devised for their bond buyers are: a card game to be held at Bensalem high school, Sept. 20th, admission 50 cents in war stamps to be bought at the door. Prizes will be war stamps. The purpose of this affair is to help fill up stamp books so they may be converted into bonds this month.

For the 25th the committee has arranged the war bond sales revue, also to be held at Bensalem Township high school. Besides entertainment by talented people of the community a registered calf donated by one of the select dairies will be auctioned off for war bonds at the end of the program.

HANCOCK WINS IN DEMOCRATIC FIGHT FOR COMMISSIONER

Warrington Oil Salesman Defeats Three Other Rivals For The Nomination

LIGHT VOTE IS CAST

Britton Named by Republicans for Supervisor in Bristol Township

Approximately 7,400 voters cast ballots in Bucks County in the primary election held yesterday. This represents about 17% of the 45,000 voters registered and entitled to participate in the selection of candidates.

The surprise of the election was the battle for nomination of county commissioner on the Democratic ticket. In return from the 109 election districts, the results show that Edward C. Hancock, Warrington oil salesman, defeated three aspirants, he polling 1150 votes; Roger O. Mason, Democratic county chairman, polled 825 votes; Theodore Godown, Riegelsville, 624; and Howard J. Black, Hulmeville, 522. It was thought that Godown and Mason would be the successful candidates, but Hancock won easily. Only one is to be elected at the general election in November.

Mason is the Democratic county chairman, and it is believed that there will be a hot fight at the November election.

Hancock, it is believed, won out mainly through the fact that his name was the first on the ballot, which position is considered good for 200 votes. Mrs. Hancock is Democratic State Committee Woman and was very active in her husband's behalf.

There were 12 local contests in Bucks County. In Bristol Township in a sticker campaign on the Republican ballot, Frank Hinds, the present Democratic supervisor, was Continued On Page Four

After their basic training is completed, the guards are given a surprise inspection by a board of three Army officers, who check the guards for ten major points, including rating in this inspection entitled the force to the award of guidon.

RAILROADS' BURDEN

The tremendous burden the railroads of this country have had to bear in wartime is well known. It is largely the responsibility of the railroads to move vital materials of war in the various stages of their development and to ports of unloading for use by Allied forces abroad. The railroads are doing a magnificent freight-handling job.

But the extent to which passenger traffic on the nation's railroads has increased is not so well known. Everybody who has had occasion to travel by rail, of course, has had experience with crowded trains and a shortage of reservations, but the figures are astonishing.

According to the publication Railway Age, the railroads in the United States have carried 260 per cent more passengers during the first five months of 1943 with fewer passenger cars than they did during a similar period in 1940. During last May, the last month for which figures are available, passenger traffic was up 312 per cent over May, 1940. Estimates for June are that passenger traffic in that month was 14 per cent greater than in May.

"Because of government restrictions on car building," says Railway Age, "this huge increase in traffic has had to be handled not only without any increase, but with an actual small decrease, in passenger-carrying cars."

The figures reflect great credit on the railroads for their ability in handling such greatly expanded business, but they don't say much for the general public. Although heavy troop movement by rail is taken into consideration, it is apparent that the government's plea to civilians to refrain from all but necessary train travel has fallen to a considerable extent upon deaf ears.

A REAL MALAPROP

The American government's penchant for alphabetizing its myriad agencies was certain, some day, to lead to some difficulties. The day came, without warning, in the Near East when the United States went into action in North Africa and in Sicily. America's abecedarians produced the Allied Military Government of Occupied Territories or AMGOT.

The Turks looked somewhat astonished when they first heard the word. They raised their eyebrows. Indeed, the Turkish press tried to walk around the phrase with as much delicacy as possible. Turkish officials finally drew American officials aside and confided that AMGOT was a naughty, naughty word in their language, tsk, tsk, tsk.

So now the American government has formally changed AMGOT. It is now AMG. You can look any day now for a new bureau in Washington, the DCP. It will be the Department of Comparative Philology. That is, unless DCP is awfully naughty in Russian or something.

Eisenhower Announces Loss of Ground at Salerno

25-mile gain from captured Cosenza. This places the British approximately 95 miles from the Salerno battlefront.

Gen. Eisenhower's statement said the U. S. Fifth Army and its British components yielded the new ground at nightfall yesterday. The move was taken in the face of savage German attacks to straighten the Allied lines.

The present American land operations are being staged under the greatest aerial cover of the entire Mediterranean campaign.

While the Salerno battle is a bitterly contested sea-saw conflict, in other areas Allied gains are piling up steadily.

The island of Capri was captured by British naval forces and immediately handed back to Italian control after Nazi forces there had been dealt with.

Dear Lord, our Heavenly Father, look down upon us this day, and fuse within our hearts an abiding love for all mankind. Make us aware that all people are Thy children and that all men are created equal in Thy sight. Give us a great zeal for the advancement of Thy Kingdom which will cause us to strive to teach those who are in need and bring them into closer fellowship with Thee. In these days of tremendous need free us from selfishness and self-centeredness, that our thoughts might be on others to whom the hand of fellowship should be extended, and to whom the message of Christ should be made real. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Winning new cinematic laurels, the superlative Michele Morgan came yesterday to the screen of the Grand Theatre in "Two Tickets to London." The star has one of the season's prize dramatic roles and it is certainly one of the most impressive in her career. Appearing with her is Alan Curtis who has his initial chance in a heroic leading man characterization.

Edwin L. Martin, the producer-director, has assembled an excellent cast which features such popular players as C. Aubrey Smith, Barry Fitzgerald, Targuin Oliver, Mary Gordon, Oscar O'Shea and Dooley Wilson. The latter, accompanying himself on his famous accordion, presents two songs during the action of the film.

BRISTOL THEATRE

"Out of the Fog," an action drama, appears at the Bristol Theatre today, featuring John Garfield and Ida Lupino.

A new twist on an old theme has made "A Gentle Gangster," which opened yesterday at the Bristol Theatre, more than just another gangster picture. Barton MacLane, star of the picture, turns all the power of a forceful personality from crime to the side of law and order with the result that the audience gets a thrill out of watching him use his strong-arm methods for the forces of good rather than evil.

RIT THEATRE

Comedienne Joan Davis declares she will never forget the making of her new picture, "He's My Guy." Miss Davis is starred in the film, which comes today to the Ritz

BUY WAR BONDS

None of us will be completely happy until the day of Victory. The day our boys are back; our sons, brothers and husbands. We want our way of life to go on, and we're fighting to make sure it does. We want Jim or Bill (you know his name) to be sitting right there in his easy chair with his pipe or studying in his own room. We want to have friends in for dinner again... and a big roast beef for them. We want to be able to take a long drive in the country, buy a new car, have fun, be happy. We want to live again on that sunny side of things of which Coca-Cola, itself, is such a symbol. There are so many things we want back. Yes, so many. None of them will come unless we win. All, and more, will come when we win. The War Bonds you buy will hasten the day... the day of Victory.

DIAMOND NINE PROTESTS TILT WON BY ROHM & HAAS

Protest Based On Decision
On Bases Made By Umpire Burke

BALK WAS CALLED

Decision Made in The Third Inning of The Game

The playoff game of last Sunday between Rohm and Haas and Diamond which was won by the former team has been protested by the Diamond management.

The protest is based on a decision by Umpire Leo Burke who was working the bases. Burke called a balk on pitcher Dick Hirst in the third inning after the Diamond team had trapped George Ritter between first and second and tagged him out.

Umpire Burke gave Ritter second base and this was immediately protested by Henny Morgan, manager of the Diamond team. Burke, umpire-in-chief, "Bill" Whitner, and the other base umpire, Eddie DeKoy, went into a conference and upheld the decision. Manager Morgan continued to protest but was told by Umpire Whitner to get on the bench or be ordered from the game. Morgan then protested the game.

A meeting of the protest board will be held this week.

In the meantime, two games are scheduled for this Sunday with the first game beginning at one o'clock. Rohm and Haas has won the two games of the series played thus far and if Burke's decision is upheld only one game will have to be played on Sunday.

Attorney Writes of Life in Middle East

scales, and as there is no corner drugstore or R. R. station in sight I can't tell you what I weigh, but I think I have taken on a few pounds. I had a nice swim in the Mediterranean this afternoon and tried to start this letter when I returned. The flies wouldn't let me, so am writing this at 8:30 p. m. in the ambulance with the ceiling light on.

So you want to live in Syria, do you? You don't like dirt or flies, malarial mosquitoes or scorpions, and you just couldn't keep away from them. Oh, yes, I forgot the smells. Egypt has one all its own. It hits you as soon as you come in and get on the job.

off the desert. May in Syria is not bad. But I wouldn't go to Cairo or the rest of N. Africa on a free Cook's Tour. As for the Pyramids, Mark Twain was right. "A couple of stone piles badly out of repair."

Have been reading "Moscow Mission." You must buy it and read it. Would like to have a copy when I get home. Have just finished the June Readers Digest.

As I have just inherited another wreck of a car, I haven't had much time for the lighter side of life. Have been working on it for a week and it seems to be responding to gentle care. Can't do anything about the shrapnel holes in the body. Must save my batteries, so will sign off and add a few words in a day or two.

Sept. 4th.

The day after writing the above, I was transferred to an engineering regiment and taken into the Officers Mess. What a change! We spent a couple of days getting ready to move and were three days en route, and arrived here yesterday. We are situated in an olive orchard and fairly near the Mediterranean. We are usually out of the desert and in hilly country. Plenty of grapes and other fruits. Am posted for duty this morning, so I had better pump up the tires and get on the job.

It takes so little . . . TO STOP SO MUCH!

It takes only a banana peel to toss dignity into the dust. It takes only the stoppage of a piece of electrical equipment to hold up an entire factory . . . keep an acre of tools idle and an army of workers twiddling their thumbs . . . prevent vital war material from being delivered.

Never was production so urgent as now. Your electrical equipment—big or little—must be kept going, must be prevented from causing production delays. Too much is at stake. Use extra care in its operation, extra care in inspection, extra care in lubrication, cleaning, and adjustment.

Not only in war plants, but in many commercial establishments, too, electrical equipment is working overtime. Much of it cannot be replaced, but it can, by careful maintenance, be kept serving faithfully and well for the duration. It is good sense and good patriotism to see that this vigilant maintenance never slackens.

BACK THE ATTACK—WITH WAR BONDS!
$15,000,000,000 worth needed in September!

A War Bond is the seal of a faith well kept. Invest in an EXTRA $100 War Bond during September . . . in addition, of course, to your regular purchases of War Bonds and Stamps. That's the way to back up the attack! This is the crucial time in the war . . . too much is at stake to fall short of Uncle Sam's goal of fifteen billion dollars this month.

Work, save so they can fight.
BUY WAR BONDS
& STAMPS regularly.

Much depends on your electrical equipment
TAKE GOOD CARE OF IT!
